

Environmental Health Data and Information at Your Fingertips!

Better information for better health!

What data and information is available at FloridaTracking.com?

- Health conditions and diseases, like asthma and cancer
- Environmental contaminants, like air and water pollution and Radon
- Weather, like extreme heat events
- Community design, including access to parks and proximity to busy roads
- Population characteristics, like life expectancy and number of Florida residents

You can create and download maps, graphs, tables and charts to display the data

History of Florida Environmental Public Health Tracking (FL EPHT)

2002- Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) established the National Tracking Network

2003- FL EPHT established with CDC funding

2009- Launched web portal FloridaTracking.com

2012- Released data reports by county

2014- Released data reports by ZIP Code

How can the data and information be used?

- Health advocates can document environmental health issues in their community
- Public health professionals can use the data to better design programs and interventions
- Decision makers can inform stakeholders and support public policy
- Students and researchers can use data in projects, studies and research
- Healthcare professionals can advise patients based on environmental and health data specific to their community

TAKE ACTION

- Visit FloridaTracking.com and be better informed to protect your health, to reduce illness, and save lives

FLORIDA ENVIRONMENTAL PUBLIC HEALTH TRACKING PROGRAM

<https://www.floridatracking.com/healthtracking/> | October 2021 | EH_Tracking@flhealth.gov

Florida Department of Health | Environmental Public Health Tracking | (10/2021)

